

Opis choroby *

Definicja

Muckle-Wells syndrome (MWS) is an intermediate form of cryopyrin-associated periodic syndrome (CAPS; see this term) and is characterized by recurrent fever (with malaise and chills), recurrent urticaria-like skin rash, sensorineural deafness, general signs of inflammation (eye redness, headaches, arthralgia/myalgia) and potentially life-threatening secondary amyloidosis (AA type).

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

Neutrophilic urticaria

Pokrzywka neutrofilowa

Kod ORPHA

575

Kod OMIM

191900

Kod ICD10

E85.0

Kod ICD11

4A60.1

*Źródło

orphanet