

Opis choroby *

Definicja

A rare hematologic disease characterized by the presence of 20-29% blasts in the bone marrow, presence of 5-29% blasts in the peripheral blood, and/or presence of Auer rods. Patients show relatively stable peripheral blood counts for weeks or months, with specific cytogenetic and molecular genetic characteristics constituting important prognostic factors.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

RAEB-t

RAEB-t

Kod ORPHA

168960

Kod OMIM

-

Kod ICD10

D46.2

Kod ICD11

-

---

*Źródło

orphanet