

Opis choroby *

Definicja

Primitive neuroectodermal tumor of the corpus uteri is a rare cancer of corpus uteri derived from neural crest cells, characterized by small, round neoplastic cells with variable degree of neural, glial and ependymal differentiation. Macroscopically, the tumor is often a large, poorly circumscribed polypoid mass with necrotic areas and hemorrhage. It usually presents with lower abdominal or pelvic pain, irregular vaginal bleeding or discharge, pelvic mass and uterine enlargement.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

Malignant peripheral neuroectodermal tumor of the corpus uteri

Obwodowy guz neuroektodermalny trzonu macicy

Złośliwy obwodowy guz neuroektodermalny trzonu macicy

Peripheral neuroectodermal cancer of the corpus uteri

Kod ORPHA

213630

Kod OMIM

-

Kod ICD10

C54.8

Kod ICD11

-

*Źródło

orphanet