Opis choroby ***

Definicja

Fundus albipunctatus is a rare, genetic retinal dystrophy disorder characterized by the presence of numerous small, round, yellowish-white retinal lesions that are distributed throughout the retina but spare the fovea. Patients present in childhood with non-progressive night blindness with prolonged cone and rod adaptation times. The macula may or may not be involved, which may result in a decrease of central visual acuity with age.

Dane

Klasyfikacja Choroba

Kod ORPHA 227796

Kod OMIM 136880 Kod ICD10 H35.5

Kod ICD11 9B70

*Źródło

orphanet