

Opis choroby *

Definicja

MITF-related melanoma and renal cell carcinoma predisposition syndrome is an inherited cancer-predisposing syndrome due to a gain-of-function germline mutation in the MITF gene, associated with a higher incidence of amelanotic and nodular melanoma, multiple primary melanomas and increase in nevus number and size. It may also predispose to co-occurring melanoma and renal cell carcinoma and to pancreatic cancer.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Kod ORPHA

293822

Kod OMIM

614456

Kod ICD10

C43.9

Kod ICD11

-

---

*Źródło

orphanet