

Opis choroby *

Definicja

Isolated congenital adermatoglyphia is a rare, genetic developmental defect during embryogenesis disorder characterized by the lack of epidermal ridges on the palms and soles, resulting in the absence of fingerprints, with no other associated manifestations. It is associated with a reduced number of sweat gland openings and reduced transpiration of palms and soles.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

Congenital absence of fingerprints

Wrodzony brak linii papilarnych

Immigration delay disease

Kod ORPHA

289465

Kod OMIM

136000

Kod ICD10

Q82.8

Kod ICD11

-

*Źródło

orphanet