

Opis choroby *

Definicja

Foetal parvovirus syndrome is a foetopathy likely to occur when a pregnant woman is infected by parvovirus B19. In adults, the virus causes a butterfly erythema infectiosum (also called Fifth Disease; 'slapped cheek disease') and flu-like symptoms with symmetric polyarthralgias, which usually do not warrant prenatal diagnosis.

Dane

Klasyfikacja	Synonimy
Zespół wad wrodzonych	Mother-to-child transmission of parvovirus syndrome
	Parwowirusowa infekcja płodowa
	Parvovirus antenatal infection

Kod ORPHA	Kod OMIM	Kod ICD10
295	-	P35.8

Kod ICD11
KA62.7

*Źródło

orphanet