

Opis choroby *

Definicja

A rare maxillo-facial surgical disease characterized by an inflammatory, granulomatous lesion, most commonly of iatrogenic origin due to interaction of extravasated erythrocytes with exogenous lipids, in particular petrolatum-based antibiotic ointment used after surgical procedures. Most frequent locations are the paranasal sinuses and jaws, although the lesion can occur in any part of the body. It is typically found incidentally as an asymptomatic soft tissue swelling.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

Spherulocytosis

Sferulozytoza

Subcutaneous spherulocystic disease

Kod ORPHA

306553

Kod OMIM

-

Kod ICD10

M79.8

Kod ICD11

-

*Źródło

orphanet