

Opis choroby *

Definicja

A rare disease with malignant hyperthermia characterized by exercise-induced life-threatening hyperthermia with a body temperature over 40°C and signs of encephalopathy ranging from confusion to convulsions or coma. Incidence increases with rising ambient temperature and relative humidity. Manifestations may include rhabdomyolysis (presenting with myalgia, muscle weakness, and myoglobinuria), tachycardia, and in severe cases multiorgan failure.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

Exertional heat stroke

Exertional heat stroke

Kod ORPHA

466650

Kod OMIM

-

Kod ICD10

T88.3

Kod ICD11

-

*Źródło

orphanet