

Opis choroby *

Definicja

Foveal hypoplasia-presenile cataract syndrome is a rare, genetic ocular disease characterized by congenital nystagmus (horizontal, vertical and/or torsional), foveal hypoplasia, presenile cataracts (with typical onset in the second to third decade of life), and normal irides. Corneal pannus and/or optic nerve hypoplasia may also be present.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

O'Donnell-Pappas syndrome

Zespół O'Donnella i Pappasa

Kod ORPHA

2253

Kod OMIM

136520

Kod ICD10

H26.0

Kod ICD11

9C2Y

---

*Źródło

orphanet