

Opis choroby *

Definicja

A rare genetic disease characterized by co-occurrence of sick sinus syndrome (manifesting as sinus bradycardia, often requiring pacemaker implantation) and chronic intestinal pseudo-obstruction (which may be of myogenic or neurogenic origin and usually requires total parenteral nutrition), with an age of onset within the first four decades of life. Other cardiac features, such as atrial flutter or fibrillation and valve anomalies, may also be present.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

CAID syndrome

Przewlekła dysarytmia przedsionkowazaburzenia motoryki jelit

Zespół CAID

Chronic atrial dysrhythmia-intestinal motility disorder

Kod ORPHA

435988

Kod OMIM

616201

Kod ICD10

K59.8

Kod ICD11

-

*Źródło

orphanet