

Opis choroby *

Definicja

Congenital cervical spinal stenosis is a rare neurological disease characterized by a congenital narrowing of the bony anatomy of the cervical spinal canal (sagittal diameter <14mm), predisposing the individual to symptomatic neural compression, such as cramps, paresthesias, pain, muscle hypertonia and weakness, myelopathy and sphincter disturbances.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

Congenital narrowing of cervical spinal canal
Congenital stenosis of the cervical spine
Congenital narrowing of cervical spinal canal
Congenital stenosis of the cervical spine

Kod ORPHA

831

Kod OMIM

-

Kod ICD10

Q06.8

Kod ICD11

-

---

*Źródło

orphanet