

Opis choroby *

Definicja

Multiple self-healing squamous epithelioma (also known as Ferguson-Smith disease (FSD)) is a rare inherited skin cancer syndrome characterized by the development of multiple locally invasive skin tumors resembling keratoacanthomas of the face and limbs which usually heal spontaneously after several months leaving pitted scars.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

Familial primary self-healing squamous epithelioma of the skin, Ferguson-Smith type
Choroba Fergusonsona i Smitha
Mnogie rogowiaki kolczystokomórkowe typu Fergusonsona i Smitha
MSSE
Rodzinny pierwotny samowyleczalny nabłoniak płaskonabłonkowy, typu Fergusonsona i Smitha
Samowyleczalny nabłoniak płaskonabłonkowy typu 1
Ferguson-Smith disease
MSSE
Multiple keratoacanthoma, Ferguson-Smith type
Self-healing squamous epithelioma type 1

Kod ORPHA

65748

Kod OMIM

132800

Kod ICD10

D48.5

Kod ICD11

2C31.1

*Źródło

orphanet