

Opis choroby *

Definicja

A rare amyloidosis that complicates chronic inflammatory disorders and is characterized by the aggregation and deposition of amyloid fibrils composed of serum amyloid A protein, an acute phase reactant. The kidney is involved in virtually all patients and dominates the clinical picture. Other frequently involved sites are the liver, the spleen, suprarenal gland, gut and less frequently the heart.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

Inflammatory amyloidosis
Amyloidoza reaktywna
Amyloidoza wtórna
Amyloidoza zapalna
Reactive amyloidosis
Secondary amyloidosis

Kod ORPHA

85445

Kod OMIM

-

Kod ICD10

E85.3

Kod ICD11

5D00.1

*Źródło

orphanet