

Opis choroby *

Definicja

X-linked congenital generalized hypertrichosis is an extremely rare type of hypertrichosis lanuginosa congenita, a congenital skin disease, which is characterized by hair overgrowth on the entire body in males, and mild and asymmetric hair overgrowth in females. It is associated with a mild facial dysmorphism (anterverted nostrils, moderate prognathism), and, in a kindred, it was also associated with dental anomalies and deafness.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Podtyp kliniczny

Synonimy

Congenital generalized hypertrichosis, Macias-Flores type

Wrodzona uogólniona hipertrichoza, typ Macias i Flores

Zespół Macias Flores, Garcia Cruz i Rivera

Macias Flores-Garcia Cruz-Rivera syndrome

Kod ORPHA

79495

Kod OMIM

307150

Kod ICD10

Q84.2

Kod ICD11

LD27.0Y

*Źródło

orphanet