

Opis choroby *

Definicja

Harlequin syndrome (HSD) is an autonomic disorder occurring at any age and characterized by unilateral flushing and sweating, involving the face and sometimes arm and chest, in condition of thermal, exercise or emotional stress without sympathetic ocular manifestations. However, tonic pupils, parasympathetic oculomotor lesion and pre- or postganglionic sudomotor sympathetic deficit can rarely occur.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

Progressive isolated segmental anhidrosis

Postępująca izolowana anhydroza odcinkowa

Kod ORPHA

199282

Kod OMIM

-

Kod ICD10

G90.8

Kod ICD11

EE01.0

---

*Źródło

orphanet