

Opis choroby *

Definicja

A rare congenital anomaly of superior vena cava characterized by a persistent left superior vena cava that drains into the left atrium through a direct connection to its roof, creating a right-to-left shunt. Patients are at risk of developing chronic hypoxia, decreased exercise tolerance, cyanosis, embolic cerebrovascular events, and heart failure.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Wada morfologiczna

Synonimy

Persistent left SVC connecting to left-sided atrium

Lewa SVC uchodząca do lewego przedsionka

Lewa żyła główna wchodząca do lewostronnego przedsionka

Persistent left SVC connecting to the roof of left-sided atrium

Persistent left superior vena cava connecting to left-sided atrium

Kod ORPHA

99111

Kod OMIM

-

Kod ICD10

Q26.1

Kod ICD11

-

---

*Źródło

orphanet