

Opis choroby *

Definicja

Lown-Ganong-Levine syndrome is an extremely rare conduction disorder characterized by a short PR interval (less than or equal to 120 ms) with normal QRS complex on electrocardiogram associated with the occurrence of episodes of atrial tachyarrhythmias (e.g. atrial fibrillation, atrial tachycardia).

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

Atrial tachyarrhythmia with short PR interval
Zespół Lowna, Ganonga i Levine'a
LGL syndrome

Kod ORPHA

844

Kod OMIM

108950

Kod ICD10

I45.6

Kod ICD11

BC81.Y

*Źródło

orphanet