

Opis choroby *

Definicja

Lemierre syndrome is a rare, potentially lethal, oropharyngeal infectious disease occurring in immunocompetent adolescents and young adults that is mainly due to Fusobacterium necrophorum and that is characterized by septic thrombophlebitis of the internal jugular vein that leads to septic, usually pulmonary, embolism, associated with ENT (ear, nose, and throat) infection that manifests with fever, neck pain, and tonsillopharyngitis.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

Lemierre postanginal sepsis
Poanginowa posocznica Lemierre'a
Septyczne zapalenie żyły szyjnej wewnętrznej
Wtórna posocznica poanginowa po infekcji gardła
Postanginal sepsis secondary to oropharyngeal infection
Septic phlebitis of the internal jugular vein

Kod ORPHA

137839

Kod OMIM

-

Kod ICD10

J03.8

Kod ICD11

-

*Źródło

orphanet