

Opis choroby *

Definicja

A rare cutaneous myiasis characterized by infestation of open wounds by dipterous fly larvae. Mucous membranes and body cavity openings can also be affected. The condition may be accompanied by fever, pain, and secondary infections and can lead to massive tissue destruction and even death. Predisposing factors for larval infestation are poor hygiene, advanced or very young age, alcoholism, diabetes, and vascular occlusive disease, among others.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Choroba

Synonimy

Traumatic myiasis

Kod ORPHA

165955

Kod OMIM

-

Kod ICD10

B87.1

Kod ICD11

1G01.3

*Źródło

orphanet