

Opis choroby *

Definicja

Sporadic fetal brain disruption sequence is a rare, non-syndromic, central nervous system malformation disorder characterized by severe microcephaly (average occipitofrontal circumference -5.8 SD), overlapping sutures, keel-like occipital bone prominence, scalp rugae with normal hair pattern and signs of neurological impairment. Brain imaging may show ventriculomegaly, cortical tissue deficit, and hydranencephaly.

Dane

Klasyfikacja

Zespół wad wrodzonych

Kod ORPHA

1665

Kod OMIM

-

Kod ICD10

Q02

Kod ICD11

-

*Źródło

orphanet